The 1945 Mountaineer

Alma Mater

*In a rose-tinted valley encircled by hills,
Resting deep in a land that is blest,
Where the warm golden sunlight
brings concord and peace
Lies the school that our hearts all love best,*

*And amidst those green hills in that valley of gold,
Shall our praises to her ever rise,
Till the mountains and hill-sides
her honors set forth
And re-echo her name to the skies.*

Chorus:

*Then hurrah for our colors, our flag and our school,
Hurrah for our classmates so
dear,
Hurrah for our teachers so kind
and so true,
For the Board of Trustees give a cheer.*

Class Poem

Our four long years have passed away,
 Four years of gladness, joy, and fun,
 They say our high school days are o'er,
 And our life's work has just begun.

We're leaving now the place we love
 To fill our place in the world,
 And may we ever strive to keep
 The name of our great school unfurled.

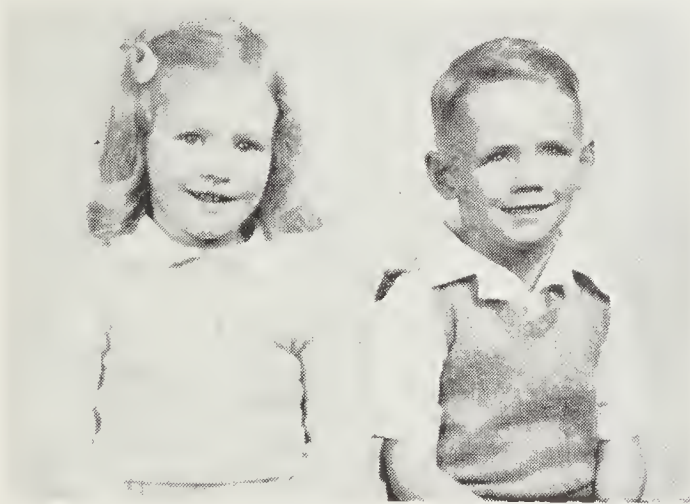

Some days were good, and some were bad,
 And many lessons have seemed hard;
 Some of our class have gone away,
 To fight for freedom yard by yard.

Let's not forget the days just gone,
 But keep them long in memory;
 Let's ne'er forget our teachers kind
 But praise their names in days to be.

This is the time we've waited for,
 At last has come our graduation;
 And on our shoulders rests the job,
 To build a firm and Christian nation.

And when our lives down here are o'er
 And we no more do tread the sod,
 May all our names be found in gold
 In the Great Class Roll of our God.

CLASS PROPHECY

It was a noisy but happy group of seniors that marched from Waynesville High School in the spring of 1945. Their faces fairly glowed with excitement as they went out to greet the world in which they were to play a great part. The group of teachers gathered behind them gave audible sighs of relief, and each of them had an additional gray hair.

Five years after that graduating day, during the presidency of Mr. J. D. Kelly, I made an airplane tour of the United States. On that tour I saw various members of that 1945 senior class.

As I flew low over Hollywood, in the distance I could hear voices rising in laughter. Standing before this hilarious crowd of people was Mr. Laugh-it-off, better known as Joe Turner. What did Bob Hope have that Joe doesn't?

Coming from the MGM Studio, I heard feminine voices squealing wildly. As I observed closer I saw Virgil Hoglen standing before the audience softly crooning. They didn't even remember Frank Sinatra!!

Suddenly a small brick bungalow caught my eye. Seated inside was Bebe Medford disgustedly combing her hair, while Carlton and little Jr. silently washed dishes.

When I picked up the Fashion Magazine, there, staring me in the face from the front cover, was Anne Farmer, a well known Powers model, posing in the latest bathing fashion.

Dressed in his zoot suit Bill Millar is tramping the streets of Hollywood in search of new bait for his wolfish appetite.

Pushing a baby carriage down the street, with three, black headed little boys trailing after her was Carolyn Burgin, continually grumbling about her job as housewife.

Beautifully clothed in the latest fashion, was Callie Clark, relating to the reporters her recent trip to Paris.

A row of neatly painted buildings caught my eye. A sign outside the buildings read "Ferguson's Dairy, Managed by Claude Ferguson."

Flying over some beautifully cultivated land I was attracted by a tall lanky man in blue jeans, sweating over a potato patch. To my great surprise I recognized that man as Calvin Francis!

Kathryn Sparks and Hazel Leatherwood, now New York's best seamstresses, were deftly sewing on bridal gowns. I wondered why?

While reading a movie magazine I found that Hollywood's latest find was ERIC ELDERSON, who was really an old class mate of mine, Dowe West. He had easily taken Alan Ladd's place.

Monte Underwood looked very important, seated behind a large desk in a popular Real Estate Office. The little sign before him read "Manager."

While traveling through New York I saw a very attractive little French dress shop. I stepped inside and found to my amazement that it was a shop for stout women, owned by Nella Sue Garland and Margurite Way. (Better known as Madams Suzie and Pody).

The headlines of the evening paper startled me greatly. I read that the socially prominent Mildred Siler Vaughn was suing her husband, Fredrick Vaughn, on charges of mistreatment.

Dressed in stiff white uniforms, Marjorie Mull and Mildred Caldwell were briskly walking up the halls of a Red Cross Hospital near Washington.

Neil Wyatt and Rufus Massie were standing before a long line of bathing beauties on Palm Beach, Florida. They were both grinning broadly and each looked quite satisfied. I later learned they always judged the annual bathing beauty contest.

Hilda Smith and Susie Moody were leaning over the back yard fence talking about the troubles they were having with their husbands. It seemed that those two men just wouldn't stay at home any more.

I stopped in a book store in Ohio and purchased a book of poetry. While reading through it I found to my surprise, a poem which had been written by one of my old classmates, Frances Williams.

Comfortably seated in a luxurious room was Pearl Green, assisted on all sides by maids, clad in spotless uniforms.

Dorothy Lewis was the chief librarian in one of the nation's best known libraries. Her high school training had helped lots.

Walking down the streets of Cincinnati, with a tiny little tot in the middle, I saw none other than my old friends, Peggy Sue Burgin and Bob Phelps.

I was admiring some beautiful painting in a famous museum when I saw a lovely picture painted by Florence Buchanan.

To my great surprise I found Mary Frances Ferguson and Sarah Moody still hunting for the "right one". They both seemed to be doing pretty good.

While enjoying a delicious dinner in a well-known Cafe, I learned that the Cafe was owned and operated by Lily Mae Burnette and Wilma Cagle.

As the world's champion basketball players, Elizabeth Adams and Fannie Tranthem were posing for sports reporters.

Claire Howell and Velma Sutton looked very stunning in their new airplane hostess uniforms. Their training was completed and they were now well-known hostesses.

Well known in the social world were Betty Jo Noland and Evelyn Siler. They both appeared to be good bait for some hungry wolf.

Smells of delicious food came from the kitchen door of an attractive little home at Lake Junaluska. By closer observance I saw the cook was Thelma McDaniel.

As manager of Welco Shoe Corporation, Ray McCall seemed to be doing well in the business world.

Two attractive beauty operators caught my eye as I passed one of the well-known beauty parlors. I learned they were Sarah Caldwell and Blanche Davis, two of 1945's graduating pupils.

Dressed in slacks and with her hair tied up, I saw Ruth Sanderson on her way to work in an airplane factory as riveter.

Admiral Raymond Phillips looked very stunning in his new uniform—how he rated it no one knows.

Richard Franklin was still following Dowe West. Now he was trying to become a movie star. We wonder if he succeeded!

Still the world's quietest man, Jack Howell was calmly going about his work as mechanic.

I saw Bill Mehaffey removing a tire from a car at a filling station which I later found he owned himself.

After asking at several places I learned that B. J. Morrow wrote a comic strip for the newspaper.

While buying my groceries at C. E. Ray's I found to my joy that an old friend, Janie Cline, had been promoted from the dairy counter to the vegetable counter.

Standing on the front steps of W. T. H. S. was Boyd Medford patiently waiting for Theresa Alley to finish orchestra practice so he could walk up the hill with her.

Seated at Mr. Bowles' desk as his private secretary was Audrey Wyatt. She still ran her legs off for Mrs. Sloan, who of course remained at W. T. H. S.

Marjorie Skidmore had taken Miss Terrell's place as Bible teacher in W. T. H. S. She had offers from many schools, but she chose to remain with good old Waynesville High.

Teaching geometry in W. T. H. S., Lillian Hannah seemed quite contented although I did hear several pupils say they wished Mrs. Kellett was back.

Lib Davis was driving a shining new car down the streets of Waynesville. She didn't seem to have a care in the world.

As we circled in for our landing and the motors died away, I reflected upon the good traits of these, my dear classmates. And then as I returned to my home I was tired but happy as I concluded my successful journey. For it was successful, as I saw my friends and classmates meeting life's problems and successfully overcoming them.

1945 CLASS HISTORY

Our ship is our Alma Mater, the Waynesville Township High School, and the crew is we the seniors of the Class of Nineteen Hundred Forty-Five. Our big voyage began in nineteen hundred forty when approximately one hundred seventy-five of us started together and now, in nineteen hundred forty-five, one hundred twenty-four of us are still together, not ending our voyage but starting on a greater one to distant ports.

PORT I. Eighth Grade.

Our first port together was the eighth grade. There, in the State War Scrapbook Contest, Hazel Leatherwood won fourth place and Pollyanna Gibbs had one of the best scrapbooks in the State. We were also proud to have one of our crew, Bill Millar, to win third place in a district Civics Contest. Jane Wyche won second place in a district General Science Contest. In this port Anne Farmer, Bruce Briggs, Barbara Francis, Betsy Siler, Betty Jo Noland, Eloise Martin, Frederick Vaughn, Bobby Leatherwood, Joe Turner, Henry Clayton, Bill Kerley, Bebe Medford, Nella Sue Garland, Boyd Medford, Virgil Hoglen, Margaret Brendel, Mary Jo Green, Marguerite Way, and Calvin Francis were members of the high school band with Katherine Cope and Noble Garrett joining later.

PORT II. Ninth Grade.

In our second port we were led by our class president, Bill Millar. In the Girl's Public Speaking Contest our class was represented by Frances Williams; and in the Boy's Public Speaking Contest we were represented by James Siske, Bill Kerley, and J. D. Kelley. Our school was particularly proud of our football boys that year, for they won every game in which they took part. From our class, Joe Compton, Carol Grahl, Raymond Phillips, and Walter Wyatt were on the football team. Three girls from our class, Ila Jean Evans, Dorothy Fuller, and Elizabeth Adams, were on the girls' basketball team.

PORT III. Tenth Grade.

In our third port J. D. Kelly, our class president, won second place in the D. A. R. Declamation Contest. Pollyanna Gibbs won first place in the Girls' Speaking Contest, and Ila Jean Evans won honorable mention. Joanne Boone and Frances Williams were also contestants. Virgil Hoglen, Bob Leatherwood, and Joanne Boone were members of the school dramatics club. In the Girls' Chorus were Ida Lou Gibson, Pauline Sease, Betty Jo Gaddy, and Mary Frances Ferguson. The Junior Class representatives for the annual were Anne Farmer, Ila Jean Evans, Bill Millar, and Virgil Hoglen. The boys from our class leaving for service for their country were Cecil Mehaffey, Walter Wyatt, and Bob Constance.

PORT IV. Eleventh Grade.

In our fourth port, the most important of the four ports, Joe Turner has served as class president. J. D. Kelly was the first place winner in the D. A. R. Declamation Contest, and Jane Wyche won first place in the State D. A. R. Scrapbook Contest. Frederick Vaughn, Virgil Hoglen, Ida Lou Gibson, Jue Turner, Eloise Martin, Noble Garrett and Anne Farmer are members of the school orchestra. In the annual home economics fashion show thirty-five of our senior girls took part. In the band, Anne Farmer, and Eloise Martin were majorettes; Ila Jean Evans, Virgil Hoglen, and Bebe Medford were cheer leaders. A wonderful piece of work was done on the annual by J. D. Kelly, the editor, Ila Jean Evans, associate editor, Bruce Briggs and Marguerite Way, business managers, and all of the rest of the annual staff. Bebe Medford, Helen Jewel Robinson, Marguerite Way, Frances Parton, Nella Sue Garland, Joanne Boone, and Eloise Martin were chosen to write character sketches of the seniors for the annual. Pollyanna Gibbs was elected to write the Class Prophecy. Nella Sue Garland and Bebe Medford were chosen to write the Last Will. Ila Jean Evans and Anne Farmer were chosen to write the Class Complaint and the Class Poem was written by Virgil Hoglen. Twelve of our senior boys, Ned Massey, Tom Medford, James Moody, Raymond Phillips, Hardy Noland, Bobby Phelps, Ed Scates, Kenneth Turner, Thomas Wilson, Carol Grahl, William Lee Howell, and Gilbert Hembree have gone on greater voyages of the service of their country.

This is not the end of our voyage, for there are many other ports beckoning us. Although we shall not make the rest of our voyage together, may each of you find ports of success and happiness wherever you may go!

The Last Will and Testament

State: North Carolina
County: Haywood
City: Waynesville

We, members of the senior class of 1945, having struggled through four years of hard labor (Ha! Ha!) and having learned so much from our experiences, wish to leave our most cherished possessions to our successors: .

POSSESSIONS I

To the tenth grade, we leave that so needed extra grade. Boy! are we glad it didn't catch us.

To the ninth grade, we leave again, those unforgettable, "hungry" locker rats, those cold radiators, which are cold because the business department has to be kept so-o-o warm.

To the eighth grade, we leave the privilege of feeding Mrs. Kellett's stray dogs—or just about anything to get out of classes and raise a general disturbance.

POSSESSIONS II

To Mrs. Kellett's math classes, we leave those mathematical geniuses, which she so long has wanted and never gotten.

To Miss Terrell's English classes, we leave Joe Turner's, Boyd Medford's, and Virgil Hoglen's sense of humor to anyone who can carry on. Oh Yeh?

To Mrs. Sloan's Typing classes, we leave all the typewriters to anyone that she may count upon making those, oh! how dreaded, honor rolls. She'll need 'em too.

To Mrs. Buchanan's (better known as Margie's) Home Economics Department, we leave a bushel of bobbins and all the needles in the world; and we just dare one to "accidentally" walk out of the door.

To Mr. Isley's Music Department, we leave a huge can of oil to be used on those ever squeaking floors, so he'll not be disturbed as those footsteps fly through the auditorium.

To Mr. Brown's Home Room, we leave all those, oh! how nicely behaved, sophomores, hoping they won't forget to "drop by" homeroom.

To Mrs. Huneycutt's Home Room, we're leaving a big bucket of coal to keep that "hot" room warm.

POSSESSIONS III

Ila Jean Evans leaves her great ability to comb her hair in geometry to anyone who can get by with it as well as she does. Hard to do, hard to do!

Eloise Martin leaves all those beautiful sweaters and skirts to Theresa Alley. Whoop! Whoop!

Agnes McClure leaves her gorgeous hair and a tube of her favorite lipstick, "pink lightning," to Janet Able—My! what a beautiful sight!

Henry Clayton leaves his meanness and sweet smile to Buddy Wilson—watch out, Buddy, you may not be quite as lucky!

Mary Sue Crocker leaves those flashing brown eyes to Bobby Hardin.

Earl Norris leaves his bus route to anyone who can get out of "Happy Holler" early enough. OH! me.

Noble Garrett leaves those beau-ti-ful clothes to Aaron Hyatt—that's a lot to live up to, Aaron.

Betsy Siler leaves that stunning hair do to Phyllis Ferguson.

Tom Medford leaves that "come hither" look to just any handsome blonde.

Bruce Briggs leaves that dignified manner to Joe Morrow.

Hardy Noland and Joanne Boone leave their everlasting friendship to Jean Ann Bradley and Bobby Hardin.

Clarence Harrell and Sarah Moody leave those "wonderful" dates to any couple that really likes a swell time.

Joe Compton leaves his bashful, but wonderful, smile to Joe Kelley.

Walter James leaves his profitable experiences to trading "strip-downs" to Wally Brown.

Margaret Brendle leaves her neatness to Nancy Jones.

Roy Cogdill leaves those flirtatious eye-lashes to Parker Gay. Flash 'em away, Parker.

Doris Briggs leaves her "way with the boys" to Margaret Frazier.

Ed Scates leaves that "Oh! what a hunk of man" physique to Jeep Norris.

Alna Hyatt leaves that "Van Johnson" look to Buddy Wilson—Take 'er away, Buddy. OH! OH!

Carol Grahl leaves his "quarter-back" position to Bill Richerson.

Ruth McElroy leaves her shorthand notes to Anna Jean Davis.

Mary Alice Davis leaves those "certain" ways to guard, to Jackie Messer.

Bobby Leatherwood leaves those "solid" trumpet solos to "Pee Wee" Underwood.

Jane Wyche leaves Bobby Harry in good hands—namely Mary Ann Massie.

Mary Jo Green leaves her Bible notes to Tom Ray.

"Scotty" Clark leaves his "TRIG" arguments for Ray Rogers to carry out.

Hugh Compton leaves his English pranks to any junior who can get by with them.

Billy Davis leaves those "heart-breaking" ways to Sammy Wiggins.

Ida Lou Gibson sings "By! By!" to the Junior class, hoping Betty June McCracken will take her place.

Frances Parton leaves her sweet and wonderful personality to Dot Fisher.

Betty Jo Crocker leaves her office job to just anyone that likes to "fish" people out of classes.

Dot Fuller leaves her sweet-and-innocent look to Jean Crouser.

Pollyanna Gibbs leaves her originality and sweetness to Nina McClure.

Jean Hall leaves her dignity to one of those "wild" sophomores.

Virginia Hoyle leaves her gorgeous hair to Janet Able.

Claude Ferguson leaves his "smirkish" smiles to Cecil Fore. Aren't they darling?

Gilbert Hembree leaves that flirtatious smile to Bob Ferguson.

Ned Jones, Billy Kerley, and William Knight, plus Gene Sheehan, leave their so beloved lingering places in the shop to all the boys that need a worth while lay-out joint.

Verna Leming, Margaret Nelson, and Edith Palmer leave those unforgettable smiles to the on-coming junior gals.

Reba Rhea leaves that heavenly typing record to any on-coming desk sitter.

Fay Rogers and Wilma Swanger leave their beautiful hair to just any good looking red heads.

Dorothy Lewis and Mildred Caldwell leave their wonderful friendship to Barbara Boyd and Norma Jane Burgin.

Louise Palmer leaves her wonderful! wonderful! personality to Harriet Atkinson.

Helen Jewel Robinson leaves that cute little "strut" to Aletha Cagle. Don't forget to look this way, Aletha.

Kenneth Turner, James Siske, and William Lee Howell leave all their cigarette "stubs" to M. H. Bowles, personally.

Pauline Sease and Mary Charles Leatherwood leave their back seats in chorus for two crazy gals that really love fun. Carry on.

Juanita Smith leaves her technique of coming into shorthand late every morning to any available junior who thinks he could get by with it.

Richard Franklin leaves his pretty blue eyes and curling eyelashes to Richard Underwood.

Ruth McGaha leaves her tiny figure to Mary Frazier.

James Moody and Louis Dotson leave their "torn up" shop equipment to any unlucky junior who comes along.

Truett Medford leaves his bashfulness, or could we call it quietness, to Leonard Messer.

Evelyn Otto leaves her place in W. T. H. S. for another cute, new gal to fill.

Allene Plemmons leaves her pretty, curly "natural" waves to one of those gals that forgets to stop by and get a permanent.

POSSESSIONS IV

Other than these beloved possessions, which are ALL we have, we remain those wild, fun loving seniors of 1945, and hope that we have not greatly damaged dear old W. T. H. S. so that there will not be any room for damages next year.

Class Complaint

Ladies and Gentlemen—and also Faculty Members:

Before we go over the deep-end with all this talk about our "good old days" and "dear old W. T. H. S.," we would like to call to your attention a few of the things you seem to have forgotten during all of these pretty speeches.

It might be of interest to some of you to know that we have made our own little contribution to the war effort; namely, that concoction that the Lunch Room Ladies call soup. The war department hasn't decided yet whether just to feed it to the Japs and exterminate them in that way or use it as an explosive.

We should like to ask Mrs. Buchanan just one little question. If she's going to make her fifth and sixth period classes do all the sweeping, then why doesn't she get a new broom? I suppose it's because it takes longer with the old one.

Another question we wish to call to your attention is in regard to the band. We would like to know why the basketball teams travel around in special buses while the poor old band makes its trips in old beat up trucks—and while on the subject of basketball, the physical-ed, girls would like to know why there's always plenty of heat on hot days and none on cold days in the gym.

And again this year as in years gone by there arises the old question as to whether or not the students should be forced to endure the torture of listening to the Faculty Member's long and drawn out stories about the brilliancy and genius of their precious off-springs. For instance, there is the incident of the Football Banquet when our Principal gave a long-winded account of how cute little Jean thinks he is. I ask you now, is that fair?

If we had our way and could make some of the much needed changes in our school, one of the first things we would do is separate Mrs. Kellet's geometry and Shakespearean classes. The seniors never know from one day to the next whether they'll be drawing geometric figures or re-enacting the balcony scene from "Romeo and Juliet." The next change we would make is to declare school holiday when the Navy comes home. This would be much easier on both Miss Terrell and we "men-starved" girls. Another change which should have been made many years ago, but wasn't, is, if Mr. Bowles would take the time to feed the locker rats in the summer then maybe they wouldn't eat up our lunches, paper, and even our much labored-over Home Ec. skirts, etc., during the school terms.

In conclusion let us say that we sincerely hope that all our "dear" teachers are justly rewarded for the indignities they have inflicted upon us these past four years. Perhaps one of these days when we have become the nation's leading citizens they will realize how dreadfully they misjudged our abilities.

OUR PLEDGE TO VICTORY

1945 marks the fourth year of the DAYTON RUBBER MANUFACTURING COMPANY'S operation of its Waynesville plant. The accomplishments of this project for the time it has been in operation have wholly justified its existence. It has seen Pearl Harbor bombed, the fall of the Philippines, Wake Island, Guam, Guadalcanal and the ruthless invasions of helpless European countries.

The men and women who work night and day, turning out life rafts, pontoons, Dayton oxygen hose, radiator hose and V-belts for our Armed Forces and home front consumption have met each crisis with the true American spirit — that spirit that climbed mountains and crossed deserts in covered wagons to harness the forces that have made the United States the greatest nation in the world. For nearly two hundred years the people of Waynesville have been an integral part of this nation. With their selfless devotion to the causes we are fighting for they are paving the way today for a future in the great textile industry in the heart of which Waynesville is located. They have not only enabled this plant to meet, but to exceed its obligations to the Armed Forces. They are helping Dayton Rubber to maintain a high standard of workmanship and production, the rewards for which they will also rightfully share in the post-war era.

The foresight of the founders of the Dayton Rubber plant in this community at a time when war clouds were gathering has made it possible for concentration on material for the battle fronts and the manufacture of synthetic rubber products so vital to rubber economy at a time when it is most needed.

The Dayton Rubber Manufacturing Company pledges its integrity to the workers in the plant and the people of Waynesville in the onward march to Victory.

LAKE JUNALUSKA

Henry Clayton, who was picked up unconscious after a smash, opened his eyes as he was being carried into a nearby garage. He began to kick and struggle vainly to get away. When he was afterwards asked the reason he explained that the first thing he saw was a Shell sign and "some fool was standing in front of the 'S'."

Mrs. Brown: Colvin! Someone's creeping up the stairs!

Mr. Brown: What time is it?

Mrs. Brown: It's half past three.

Mr. Brown: Good, it's not me then. Turn over and go to sleep.

Policeman (to intoxicated man who is trying to fit his key to a lamp post): I'm afraid there's no one home there tonight.

Bill Millar: Mus'be; Mus'be. Thersh a light up stairsh.

Mr. Stamey: Darling, what happened? Your eye is bandaged!

Mrs. Stamey: Don't be funny--this is my new hat.
